No problem. The issues at hand are very program-specific (which PRG calculator is appropriate to use for RAD) and not enforcement matters (except that, if the parties don't reach agreement and Navy proposes to move forward anyway, Region 9 could/should consider invoking dispute). So I would not be surprised if the program had comments/concerns about potential implications for the national program, but I don't think we have anything to add from an enforcement perspective at this time/on this letter.

Importance: High

Hi Karin,

I reviewed Region 9's letter (that they plan to send to Navy COB Pacific time today), and think it is ok. They tell the Navy that EPA can consider the use of calculators (e.g., DOE's RESRAD) other than EPA's PRG calculator, but that Region 9 will need to consult with EPA HQ and that if Navy plans to switch to RESRAD, they should start the consultation process as soon as possible. In their letter, Navy says they plan to use RESRAD (and doesn't imply they would take further thoughts from EPA). I think Region 9's letter says they have not accepted this yet, but may be able to upon further discussion. Region 9 asks for a meeting with Navy the week of April 15 to discuss the Parcel G Work Plan and the 5YR.

Are others ok with the letter? They asked for any comments from us by COB Eastern.

Thanks.

Ava Azad

Importance: High

All,

Enrique asked me to forward to you the attached short letter in response to the attached 3/15 letter from the Navy. Please provide any comments by COB eastern time, today. We plan to issue the letter by COB Pacific time today.

Next, we will slightly retool the previous longer draft letter that Angeles sent you 3/14 for review. This will put forth a path forward, using the previous letter as a basis. We will send the retooled version to you for review soon.

Respectfully,
Lily

Mike:

This is the latest draft of my response to Laura Duchnak's March 15 letter (also attached) where she proposed using RESRAD instead of the PRG calculator for risk calculations. I'm using my letter to flag some issues with switching to RESRAD (it could delay field work) and propose a meeting with her and her team, as well as the State folks, to discuss the RESRAD issue and a path forward on the Parcel G workplan and the 5 year review.

I'm also sharing this Draft with our HQs colleagues for their review. I'm trying to get this letter out by COB today.

Please let me know if you have any comments or concerns about the letter.

Enrique
